MENTORING AND SUPPORT SERVICE

Over the years Partners has received requests for mentoring and support services from a wide range of people including: facilitators and trainers, adult and community educators, community development workers, inter-cultural workers, project workers involved in third level access and community engagement programmes, college lecturers etc. We have offered a variety of responses

- Advice on the design and facilitation of events
- Resources (processes, exercises, techniques, tools, participatory methods) for use in events or programmes
- Assistance reviewing and learning from a piece of work
- Coaching to strengthen people's own facilitation style and practice
- Help to think through a tricky situation and find a creative response (e.g a challenging group dynamic)
- Support in taking up a role
- Specific and pertinent examples from our experience
- A sounding board

We have recently reviewed and restructured this mentoring and support service to make it more accessible.

If you are interested or want to chat about possibilities please contact us at partnerst4t@gmail.com to arrange a time to talk.

We envisage an initial discussion (no charge) to work out the details of the request, number of hours needed in face to face and background work, fees.
