

Creative Facilitation

Rekindling the Fire

ONE DAY COURSE

Tuesday 10th March 2020

9.45 am to 4.30 pm

For whom is the course intended?

This one day event is primarily intended for people who have participated in Partners Creative Facilitation course which has been run with a number of groups over the past 15 + years.

Organised by Partners Training for Transformation,
Kimmage Development Studies Centre, Kimmage Manor, Whitehall road, D12 P5YP
Email: partners@trainingfortransformation.ie
Tel: 01 406 7588

Overall Framework

This event will offer participants

- An opportunity to review past work and plan current or future pieces of work
- An opportunity to work with others in developing responses and resources for a series of real life scenarios
- An opportunity to engage with further ideas and resources that Partners has found fruitful in its work

The day will build on and develop work done on the original Creative Facilitation course. Participants will be aware that Partners seeks to promote a way of working that enables facilitators to be clearly focused on the event(s) they are working on, attentive to the group they are working with and mindful of the context they are working in. It is a way of working that requires facilitators to have a clear understanding, an array of methods and skills, a reflective stance and a developing personal style. The diagram overleaf is a representation of this.

Some comments from past Rekindling the Fire participants

"It did what it said on the tin. My fire is rekindled."

"Its not that I had gotten lazy, I work really hard. I just got stuck on doing the same stuff all the time. I just got off the treadmill and had a good think. I'm gonna try new stuff."

"What I liked was just being in the same place with others who are trying to reflect. Just listening to others I began to get lots of new ideas about things I could do."

"I never ever ever get a chance to stand back and reflect. I've just done it and I'm refreshed."
